

Andrew P. Winterstein PhD, ATC
Clinical Professor
University of Wisconsin – Madison
Madison, WI

Andrew P. Winterstein is clinical professor in the Department of Kinesiology at the University of Wisconsin – Madison where he currently serves as the program director of their athletic training professional preparation program. A graduate of the University of Arizona, University of Oregon, and the University of Wisconsin-Madison; Dr. Winterstein has been active in athletic training clinical care and educational programming at UW since 1986.

Dr. Winterstein's academic interests include studying emerging technologies and their use in teaching and learning, medical humanities and their application to athletic training education, and outcome measures following injury.

He is the author of The Athletic Training Student Primer, co-author with Gary Harrelson and Greg Gardener of Administrative Topics in Athletic Training: Concepts to Practice and co-author with Sharon Clark of The Athletic Trainers Guide to Differential Diagnosis: A Visual Learning Approach.