

Arto Remes,
MSc (Medical Physics and Electronics)
CEO, founder
Mega Electronics Ltd
Kuopio, Finland

Arto Remes is CEO and founder of the company Mega Electronics Ltd. He has graduated from the University of Kuopio, Department of medical physics 1985. He has personally several US, EU, Japan and international patents of several technologies concerning human physiological measurement technologies such as fatigue analysis technology of human muscles based on Electromyography analysis.

He has been involved in starting up several new tech companies involved in telehealth and wellness technologies, such as MegaKoto Oy and Myontec Oy in Finland. Mr. Remes is rewarded by Eastern Finland technology Award 2007. Mega Electronics is participating in several EU funded research projects concerning telehealth solutions, developing new technology for spinal cord passing technology, female urinary incontinence treatment technologies, a new brain monitoring technology and university projects in Finland for cardiac patient home monitoring technologies.

Today Mega Electronics Ltd is concentrating in new technology in cardiac monitoring and neurophysiological monitoring solutions. Mega Electronics works globally with top level customers such as Nasa Space Research Center in USA, Massachusetts General Hospital USA, several university hospitals in Europe and in Finland, Harvard University in USA, BMW car factory in Germany, Glaxo-Smith-Kline, UK , McLaren Applied Technologies, UK as an example.